BURIED CRIME REVEALED.

THE FATE OF A BETRAYED WOMAN. OPENING A CYPRESS HILLS GRAVE-ITS REVELA-TIONS OF MURDER TO CONCRAL SHAME-WHAT WAS DISCOVERED IN AN EFFORT TO SOLVE THE

STATEN ISLAND MYSTERY. A shocking case of malpractice in this city has been revealed through the efforts of the police to identify the body of the murdered woman recently found on Staten Island. Victoria Connors, a young woman of eighteen, died in June last, and her remams were buried in the Cypress Hills Cemetery. Her death was believed to have been caused by consumption, but an examination of her body on Monday proved that she had died from the effects of malpractice. Three physicians, a hotel clerk, and the young woman's mother have been arrested for alleged complicity in the crime.

THE DEATH OF VICTORIA CONNORS. THE RESULT OF AN ANONYMOUS LETTER -ARRESTS

OF THE SUPPOSED MURDERERS-HISTORY OF AN

Although the efforts of the police to solve the Stateu Island mystery have fatted in the main object, they have brought to light other supposed murders -the latest discovery being of an atrocious case of mal-practice in this city. Captain Blake, of the police of mous letter which stated that the body of the woman found buried in a barrel near Silver Lake was probably that of Victoria Conners, of No. 307 East Twenty-sixthst. He came to this city and consulted with Inspector Murray, who undertook to investigate the matter. The Inspector visited the tenement-house at No. 307 East Twenty-sixth-st., and learned that a girl named Victoria Country had died there on June 28. The other occupants of the house said that her body had been buried in the Cypress Hills Cemetery, but they hinted that her sickness and death were known to be in a delicate condition some months before, and she had gone to the house of a physician in Tweifthbeen brought home in a carriage, late at night, and carried to her room, where she died after an illness of three weeks. Ata'l man, with black side-whiskers and mustache, and dark piercing eyes, who had been known to the other inmates of the tenement as the "Black Doctor," had visited the girl overy night during her illness. The room in which Victoria Connors had died was tenantless, and the Inspector was told that the girl's mother, who was a widow, had gone, in company with her little son,

Inspector Murray and Dr. John T. Nagle searched the death records and discovered that a permit to bury the body of Victoria Councrs had been obtained on a certificate of death which bore the name of Dr. Clarence M. Baker, of No. 59 Bond-st. The cause of death was given in the certificate as consumption. It was learned that Dr. Baker had a second office at No. 31 East Tenth-st., where he lived with his family, and that he bore a good much from the descriptions of the Biack Doctor, as he was found to be a man of medium height and stout figure, with brown hair and a long, full beard of the same color. Dr. Baker said he had not signed a certifleate of death for Victoria Conners. He had been called to see the girl at the house of Dr. Orlando E. bleeding profusely, after giving birth to a child. He had given his assistance in the attempt to save ber life, and he had visited her once or twice as consulting physician with Dr. Bradford, after she had been removed to No. 307 East Twenty-aixth-at. After the girl died he gave Dr. Bradford permission to use his name, but he did not know that the cause of death had been given in the certificate as consumption. He also professed not to know that the girl was a victim of mal-been ordered by the Inspector to get information about the case, learned that doubts had been expressed that the body buried from No. 307 East Twenty-sixth-st. was really that of Victoria Conners. An intimate friend of the dead girl, named Elizabeth Bardon, had seen the body in the coffin, and had exclaimed, "That is not Victorig." After the funeral other friends said the same. Captain Clinchy also learned that William Bliun, a clerk in the Hotel Brunswick, had been known to be intimate with Victoria, and he was suspected of having caused her removal to the house of Dr. Bradford. The same story was whispered concerning another young man, said to be a medical student.

DISINTERRING THE BODY.

The police began to suspect the body found on Staten Yaland might really be that of Victoria Conners, and that another body obtained from Believue Hospital, or elsewhere, had been buried in its place in the cometery. To set all doubts at rest Inspector Murray determined to have the body in the cometery disinterred. In company with Coroner Flanagau, Deputy Coroner Miller and some friends of the dead girl, the Inspector went to the cemetery on Monday and had the body taken up. It was recognized as that of Victoria Connors, and Dr. Miller made an autopsy to discover the cause of death. The examination proved that the girl had died from peritomus caused by malpractice.

Inspector Murray decided to arrest all persons suspected of being implicated in the crimac. He took Dr. Baker into custedy and locked bim up in the Twenty-eighth Precinct Station. He then caused the arrest of Dr. Bradford's house, and had them locked up in another station, where they could not communicate with Dr. Baker. William Elinn was also arrested. Yesterday morning the inspector took into custody Dr. David W. Eaken. Dr. Bradford's assistant. The prisoners were taken to the Tombs Police Court yesterday, and, at the request of Inspector Marray, were remanded to Police Headquarters until this morning. Edmund Price and Messra. Howe & Humme, as counsel for the prisoners, obtained writs of indeas corpus, returnable in the Supreme Court at 10 a.m. to-day. Communication with the prisoners was denied to all except their relatives, at the Police Contral Office, yesterday. Some sympathy was expressed for Dr. Baker, whose completing in the affair was believed to be due merely to a want of discretion, and to a desire not to expose a brother physician. It was said that Mrs. Compors and Dr. Bradford were greatly affected by the discovery of the crime. Mrs. Connors, it is believed, will ask to turn State's evidence against the other prisoners.

will ask to turn State's evidence against the other prisoners.

The room in which Victoria Connors died is on the third floor of a tenement house in Twenty-sixth-st. It is a cramped, dingy spartment, lighted by a single window. Separated from it by a thm partition is the room occupied by Mrs. Mary Lynch and her daughter.
Mrs. Lynch is an intelligent Irisawoman. She said yesterday: "I could hear nearly everything that was said in the next room. The poor gir' was kept stunid for over two weeks after the 'Biack Doctor' brought her hers. I suppose they gave her drugs, for I didn't hear her speak a word. Mrs. Connorn wouldn't allow any one in the house to visit the room where her daughter was. The 'Black Doctor' eathe even where her daughter was. The 'Black Doctor' eathe even where her daughter was. The Black Doctor eathe every night to see her, and the medical student, that they used to kny was one of her lovers, was here almost every day. The day before she died she was delirious most of the time.
She would beg her mother to give her the baby, which she said they had taken away from her. 'Let me take it a little while,' she would say, 'and then I will be quict.' She said to her mother once that they wanted her to die, but that she wonlon't. The medical student was not in the room that day, and she called for him many times. I heard her call out 'Fred, come and save ms.' His name is Frederick Lay, I think. Late that night she begred hard to see the baby, and then she gave a loud scream.
I did not hear her again matil they said she was dead."

Frederick H. Lay was graduated from the Relievus Hospital Medical College recently, and obtained an appointment as one of the physicians at the hospital. He was found in his room at the hospital yesterday, and was much surprised to learn fiat the body of Victoria Counors had been discovered. He admitted that he had been influencely acquainted with her, and that he visited her almost every day during the three weeks she lay ii! in Twenty-sixth-st. he had been intimately acquainted with her, and that he visited her aimost every day during the three weeks she lay ill in Twenty-sixth-st. He had heard the stories concerning his intimacy with her, and he said they were not true in all respects. His friendship for her was strong enough to prompt him to assist her while she was sick. He had not visited her as a physician, but only as a friend. He did not know that she had been made the victim of malpractice, and he had supposed that her death had resulted from natural causes. He described her as a concey girl of clinteen, with full figure, light brown hair and blue eyes. Inspector Murray and yesterday that he had not determined to arrest Dr. Lay, although he might take such action after he had received more information.

COLLECTING THE REVENUE,

METHODS AT THE CUSTOM HOUSE. D. C. ROBBINS ON THE COST OF THE SERVICE-TESTIMONY OF APPRAISERS ON THE APPRAISE-

MENT OF METALS AND DRUGS. The Congressional inquiry as to the methods of doing the Government's work in the Custom House was resumed yesterday by Fernando Wood. One merchant and three Custom House officials were examined. D. C. Robbins, of McKesson & Robbins, wholesale druggists, testified: "I observe in The New-York Trib-UNE this morning a repetition of a statement that was made in regard to our customs service while the Jay Commission was in session. At that time I took occasion to answer it fully, and my answer has never been contradicted. This statement maintains that ours is the cheapeat revenue service in the world. I say it is the most expensive and wasteful, and I can prove it beyond doubt. This statement admits that the cost of collecting our revenue last year was 4110 per cent. At the time I re-plied to the statement made before the Jay Commission It was 4's per cent, but undoubtedly there has been some economy introduced into the department since that time by the action of committees like the present.

system of any civilized European country, he makes a great mistake. The fact is, offr customs duties are the heaviest in the world. They average 30 per cent on all imports, and 40% 00 per cent on duitable goods. Spain comes next. Now it is no more trouble to collect 60 per cent in imports than it is to collect 30 per cent; and if you should double the present tariff, then instead of 41 to you should double the present tariff, then instead of 41 to the cost would be 210 per cent. The real truth is that in 1874, when I had occasion to write an article on this subject—and none of the premises have changed materially, our tariff is the same—the imports of Great Britain were $1,819,000,000, and they were all transacted at a cost of $5,000,000. That is, it cost us $7.000,000. the same year, 1873, were $642,000,000 that it is cost us $7,000,000 that it, it cost us $7,000,000 transact one-third of the business transacted by Great Britain at a cost of $5,000,000. There is no need of an urber statement on that point. The fact is incontropertially.

further statement on that point. The fact is incontrovertible."

"General J. F. Hall, Assistant Appraiser of the Ninth Division, which appraises the value of metals and all manufactured articles, testified:

I have not charge of this division for seven years. I was formerly in the music publishing bustness. We estimate the value of goods by their value at the port of export. There is no difference between the value of goods at the ports of export and at the manufactories, except the cost of transportation is added. I got rid of two men in my department some time ago. I asked to be relieved of them; but they are still in the service of the Government. Importations have fallen off because of the cheapness of iron and other manufactured srticles here. We export a good deal of machinery to Caba, and a great many sewing machines and farm implements to Europe. I do not know of any improvements that could be made in my division."

Without S. Headley, chief of the Seventh Division, in which drugs and all kinds of chemicals are examined, testified;

"I have been eight years in the Custom House; before

"I have been eight years in the Custom House; Beton that I was adruggist; I personally examine many of the goods; I carry out the law to the letter in respect to the analysis of drugs; we have no apparatus for making an analysis; lately a chemist has been employed to make att analysis when a drug is in douot."

Mr. Wood—Have you ever passed vinegar at 10 cents a gailon, on which a higher duty should have been baid?

a gallon, on which a higher duty should have been paid?

Air, Headley—Yes. That was in consequence of the proper analysis not being made. An examiner had been in the habit of passing vinegar at 10 cents without examination. The man was removed from the denartment. I think that great care should be taken to have men in my department who are acquainted with the business. I think specific rates of duty would be better than the present duties.

Deputy Collector Biatchford, who has charge of the public stores, testified: "I have under me forty-five clerks, twenty watenmen, eight myssengers, a carpenter and a sampler. Ample precautions are taken against fire in the public stores. At no time are there less than seven men on duty. The valuable things are stored in my safe. The paper and twine left over from examinations are sold and the proceeds turned over to the auditor. The laborers are provided by a contractor, and the carriage is also done by contract. The stores, I think, are well situated, and the binding is well adapted for the purpose."

THE CGURTS.

SINGULAR BEQUESTS OF A LAWYER.

Surrogate Dailey, of Brooklyn, listened yesterday to the summing up of the objections to the prothis city, who died in February, 1878, in the eightieth year of his age. His estate is valued at $100,000. It includes three small islands in New-Rochelle Harbor, known as Round Island, Harbor Island, and Dog Island. To his wife he bequeathed $3,000 a year, and to his only child, a son, $200 a year. In his will be provided that child, a son, $200 a year. In his will be provided that Round Island should be used as a family burial ground. He set apart Harbor Island and the sum of $20,000, to be held in trust by three trustees, to be used for the support of two designate white lemale children, orphans, born in lawful wedlock, and having no brother or sister living. They are to be supported and educated until they are twenty-one years of age, or until they marry or die, if either event occurs when they are under that age. The trustees are directed to select other children then, and so on "ad infinitum, so long as the island and the fund exist."

The will was contested by the widow and son on the GRACE HAGAR'S IMPATIENCE TO BE FREE. The proceedings in behalf of Grace Hagar, who seeks her release from the House of Mercy, came up yesterday before Judge Donohne, in Supreme Court. Chambers, but were of a mere formal nature, the matter being adjourned over to Friday at 10 o'clock. Wheeler H. Peckham, for the House of Mercy, renewed his objection that no one having a right to take charge of the young giri made this application. Judge Donohue reserved this question for consideration.

Sister Mary made return that the child had been duly Sister Mary made return that the oblid had been duly committed to the House by a warrant of a police mightrate of the Fourth District; that a warrant had been sent to the Controller as a verification of their right to receive support for the girl; it had been missiod, and a careful search had failed to discover it. One of the girl's anots made affidavit that the child was an orphan, and that she desired her to remain in her prosent clistody. The records of the police court of September 13, 1873, showing a complaint by Kenjamin R. Hagar against Grace Hagar, and her commitment as a demiquent, were put in.

A HUSBAND WHO REGRETS HIS BARGAIN Peter Smith, a German porter, was before Recorder McDonough, in Hoboken, yesterday upon a charge of assaulting his wife. The women did not appear. He said that he was formerly employed upon the farm of his wife's father in Germany. The woman who is now his wife was betrayed by another man, and her father offered to give Smith passage to this country and a good start in the world if he would marry the daughter, who then was the mother of two children. Smith mar-ried her and came to Hoboken. His wife's mother died three months ago, and left considerable money to the couse his wife removed the household goods from their nome at No. 162 Bloomfield-st., Hoboken, to some place inknown.

HOW THE TARRYTOWN BANK DID BUSINESS. The foreclosure suit of the receiver of the First National Bank of Tarrytown, against Samuel Emberson, upon a mortgage for $10,000 approaches a Calvin Frost, counsel for Emperson, claimed before Judge Dykman yesterday that the mortgage was given to cover future discounts to be made, and was therefore void under the United States Banking Act. He further claimed that nothing and been re-Act. He further claimed that nothing hind been received upon it, and that it was void for want of consideration. L. T. Yale, as compact for the receiver, offered proof tending to show that the mortgage was given to secure notes everdee, security for which the bank had a right to take, and that all subsequent transactions corresponded with that theory. The late death of Lather Redfield, formerly president of the bank, removed the only possible witness to support the mortgage and contradict Emberson. Justice Dykman has reserved his decision in the case.

CIVIL NOTES.

Judge Pratt, in Brooklyn, yesterday reserved his decision on a motion to confirm the reperof the referee in the suit of Mrs. Deborah Weeks for a limited divorce from Henry A. Weeks. The referee re-ported in favor of the plaintiff.

Judge Gilbert, in Brooklyn, yesterday granted a decree of absolute divorce in the suit of Mrs. Sara: A. Piermann against George L. Piermann. The defendant was charged with describing his wife and marrying another woman, with whom he is now living in this city. No defence was made to the shit.

Mrs. Maria L. Hubbard, who died at Gravesend, L. I., in June last, from strychnine peison contained in a bottle of luger beer which she drank, lett a will in a bottle of lager beer which she drain, left a wind dated Angust 22, 1863, when she was Mrs. Maria L. Powell, bequeathing her property to her niece and stepson. When the will was offered for probate, notice was gived that it would be contested by Joseph Allen, the brother of Mrs. Hubbard, and William C. Lusk, her nephew. Yesterday their objections were filed in the Kings County Surrogate's office. They allege that the will is not the last will and testament of the decedent, and that subsequent to its execution she became the wife of Horace E. Humain, and revoked all wills pre-viously made by her. The case was set down for Octo-ber 14.
